Special Investigations

Fraud is no joke to Advantage WorkComp Services. Illegal claims cost insurance companies, businesses, governments and taxpayers millions of dollars each year. The results are higher premiums for the honest and illicitly lined pockets for the deceitful few.

That's why Advantage's Special Investigations was formed. Our investigators take a "zero tolerance" stance when it comes to workers' compensation fraud. Staffed with veteran law enforcement professionals skilled in the latest investigative techniques, the unit is saving our customers millions of dollars.

Advantage uses state-of-the-art fraud identification software to distinguish suspect claims, in addition to a number of other programs such as:

- Computer-based information sharing.
- Liaison with law enforcement and government agencies.
- Coordination with the insurance community.
- Video surveillance.
- Employee fraud identification training.

But our campaign against workers compensation fraud also includes proactive programs to deter potential problems. We provide up-front education for claimants, policyholders, service providers and employees.

Zero tolerance. It's the credo of Advantage's Special Investigations unit. And it's made us the leader in anti-fraud campaigns for America's insurance companies. You can bank on that.
